

The Estimated Cost of This Study Abroad Program is Not Yet Available.

The Budget Sheet for this program will be posted right here once all supporting data has been finalized.

Cost estimates for Study Abroad programs depend on many factors, many of which change from year to year. For example, the lodging and transportation arrangements for our Short-Term Faculty-Led Summer programs must be repriced each year. Moreover, if a program is new, its itinerary, activities, and specifications for lodging and transportation must be worked out before prices can be obtained. Similarly, the cost of attending a semester-length Study Abroad program depends on when our partner universities publish their tuition and fee schedule and set their semester and orientation dates. Housing and meal plan options can also change periodically and host countries may change their immigration costs and visa requirements for students. Only when verifiable cost estimates and program dates become available will a cost estimate be ready for posting. Even then, program cost information remains an estimate only, and is subject to change for many reasons including currency fluctuations and a host of other factors.

