ASSOCIATE PROVOST FOR INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMS

Position Announcement
Office of the Executive Vice President and Provost
University of Northern Iowa
(Internal Search only)

The University of Northern Iowa is currently accepting internal applications for a five-year renewable term, full-time position of Associate Provost for International Programs (APIP).

The APIP reports directly to the Executive Vice President and Provost and is responsible for initiating, coordinating, and enhancing international programs and activities at the University of Northern Iowa. Areas of responsibility include: stimulating the development and enhancement of international course work, research and special programs; establishing, managing and coordinating student and faculty exchange programs; supervising the Office of International Programs, the International Services Office, the Study Abroad Center, and the Culture & Intensive English Program; and facilitating grant writing efforts to provide support for international programs and activities. The APIP serves with other senior academic administrators as a member of the Academic Affairs Council, and works closely with faculty and academic administrators to coordinate the overall international development efforts of the University of Northern Iowa.

Qualifications:

REQUIRED: The APIP holds a faculty appointment in an academic department with the rank of full professor. As such, the successful candidate must have an earned doctoral degree or terminal degree; a record of accomplishments in teaching, research and publication/creative work; superior written and oral communication skills; a record of successful leadership experience; ability to interact effectively with students, faculty and others in culturally diverse settings; broad and extensive international educational experience; and demonstrated knowledge of global cultures and world views. The successful candidate will also have demonstrated experience in implementing diverse recruitment strategies to enroll international students as well as best practices to retain and graduate international students; experience in securing external funding; and experience working with universities abroad to implement partnerships. Preference will be given to applicants who have lived in a foreign country, especially an advancing nation.

Application:

Applications received by May 12, 2010 will receive full consideration. The Office of the Executive Vice President and Provost encourages applications from persons of color, women, persons living with disabilities and veterans. Electronically send a letter of application, current vita, and the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of three references to the search committee chair as noted below.
